RELATIONSHIP: THE REAL ISSUE

Following on from this Sunday's Gospel (in John 17:20) Jesus prays for a radical unity for those who believe in him. That is a unity rooted in the relational being of God: Father, Son & Holy Spirit, ("May they be one in us"). This unity is not a facile agreement to disagree, nor is it an imposed uniformity or conformity. It is the love that seeks to hold together, with respect and non-judgement, the whole spectrum of perspectives. It does this while at the same time inviting all to an openness of heart and mind that acknowledges and accepts difference. So the people of God are on a constant journey of discovery. This process of being led "to the fullness of truth" (John 16:13) is never a smooth path because our egos always resist surrendering the prized possession of superiority in the imagined state of "being right". Pope Francis has been trying to re-establish in the Church the structures and processes of dialogue as endorsed by the Second Vatican Council. He has called this process synodality. For the official exposition of synodality cfr: Synodality in the Life and Mission of the Church, a document published by the Vatican Theological Commission on 2nd March 2018 and available from the Vatican website. Its basically about giving everyone a voice, listening to all and together, by the grace of the Holy Spirit, finding a consensus, a way forward that all can accept.

The Church has always experienced tension, controversy, argument and discussion. It is there in the heart of the Hebrew & Christian scriptures. It is the wrestling with a God who is always breaking in upon our closed minds and hearts, always leading us to a fuller and more wholesome understanding and way of life. The clash of ideas and attitudes is a necessary and healthy process in the context of God's inexhaustible patience and the freedom we have been given.

It would be very unhealthy for the Church if people were afraid to express their thoughts and feelings. Dialogue and discussion are as much a human right as they are a necessity. All that God asks of us is that we respect each other & not judge one another, that we are open and honest and faithful to that part of truth that is given to us. We need to recognise that none of us has the whole picture, that truth is present on all sides. Our viewpoint is precisely that — a view from a point. There are many other points! We do not have all the answers and we do not need to have them. Thankfully we have a God who is the answer to everything. God understands even if we do not!

At work, at home, in the Church and in society, if we cannot agree on everything then we try to operate on mutually acceptable compromise. However there are some things that cannot be compromised though even here people will disagree. In the Church the one thing that cannot be compromised (as I see it!) is the "Good News" – the free gift of God's love and mercy, given to all irrespective of sex, age, race, status or any other human label that can be applied. All of us and every authority in the Church must be humble enough to accept examination by the light of God's mercy revealed in Jesus. There can be no exceptions based on power, status or vested interest. Jesus does not pray for the "world" or the "worldly" church. No one has the right to limit God's mercy. No one can claim to be acting in the name of Jesus if they exclude or scapegoat another person or group for any excuse whatsoever.

Beyond divisions of right and left, conservative and liberal is the relationship with all people that God has revealed in Jesus. The love of God and the holiness of each person in God's love can never be compromised. (DMA)

PRAYERS PLEASE: for Louise Layne, Rosalie Mans' (Milford) daughter in Australia, who is suffering from cancer and needs further treatment. Louise has a young family who need their Mum.

GOOD NEWS FROM HENRIETTA: "Dear Father, I'm delighted to be able to tell you that Eva and her Mum are home. The two sisters are thrilled to be together again and are the closest the parents have ever seen them. Much rest is needed but 'pacing' is not in a child's vocabulary! Thank you, to all those I know and the many I have not met. I will pray particularly for you all through tomorrow's Rosary and Mass with gratitude and that you and yours keep healthy. If any among you are not well, I ask the Patrons of each parish to watch over you. My family send their appreciation with mine, God Bless, Henrietta.'

RE- REOPENING CHURCHES: The plans for reopening the churches are with the Bishop in consultation with the Clergy. The Diocese has to be compliant with Government guidelines. As instructed by Bishop Philip, we are waiting to see the final draft of the guidelines before we can consider opening any of our churches.

When the final draft is submitted by the Bishop, Linda, as our 3 parishes H&S co-ordinator & myself have been asked to do the risk assessments of all 3 churches and work out the possibilities which will be, of course, different for each of our churches.

Therefore, as the person legally liable for the safety of my parishioners I must insist that nothing is done without my express permission.
